CAUGHT AT LAST

Alleged Swindler in the Grip of the Law

NEW YORK, Aug 31 Ex Chief Drummond of the secret service arrested today Clarence Barnett, who has a broker's office at 382 Broadway, and brought him before Commissioner Alexander, where he was charged with having made counterfeit tickets of the Southern Pacific R R Co, and worked a scheme to defraud by sending them through the mails. According to Chief Drummond's story Barnett was prepared to work his scheme on a large scale

It is claimed that he worked in conjunction with two of his brothers, one in New Orleans and the other in San Antonio, Texas. In the first named city are R Eugene Barnett and Joseph Wenar, who are ticket brokers, and one other brother in San Antonio is in the same business. It is alleged that the tickets were all printed here. First a counterfeit of the conductor's trip pass was attempted, and it is alleged that Barnett shipped 10 000 to his brother in New Orleans. These were caught and are now in the possession of Drummond. Then the advertiser's pass was tried. This is a ticket issued to newspapers for advertising and is filled out between points wanted in the name of some newspaper mentioned on the pass

In this way the forger could make a pass worth from $3 to $100. It is claimed that Barnett had tickets printed and filled out here and that he mailed three or four a week, one at a time to his brother in New Orleans, from which point they were used. Drummond and his men have been following Barnett four months, and also men in New Orleans have been watching that end. Commissioner Alexander fixed bail at $1 500. Barnett admits he made the tickets, but says they were to be used as an advertisement for some houses he represented, having the name of the house on the reverse side of the ticket

BIG FIRE IN BUFFALO.

The Historic Academy of Music Destroyed.

Several Stores Burned Out and Loss Is Over Quarter of Million

A Number of Firemen Badly Injured by the Fall of a Floor.

BUFFALO, N Y, Sept 1 The Academy of Music, Buffalo's historic old play house, was gutted by fire early this morning

Besides the academy property, the liquor store of P C Millet, the saloon of Jacob Fried, the fur and hat store of George W Comstock and the variety store of the William Vaugn Co, all in the academy block, were damaged. The fire started in the variety store at 1 a m and gave the firemen a fierce fight

At 1 44 the fire was believed to be under control, but later it blazed up again. It seemed certain for a time that the adjoining buildings would go. They are old ramshackle tinder boxes. About 3 o'clock one of the floors of the academy building fell with a crash and flying glass and timber severely injured several firemen. A rough estimate of the damage to buildings and contents places it from $250 000 to $300 000. At 4 15 a m the fire was practically extinguished

CAUSED ONE DEATH

Tugboat War Also Resulted in Sinking of Steamer

DULUTH, Minn, Sept 1 The fight by Inman's tug line upon Singer's tug line because the latter entered into the towing business resulted to-day in the sinking of Inman's tug Pathfinder in the harbor before thousands of people, also in the death of Chase Sully, a Pathfinder fireman

The steamer Joliet arrived and was met out in the lake by Singer's tug Medina, where arrangements were made for the towing. The Pathfinder was crossing the Joliet's bow to drop in between the steamer and the Medina and take the line which had been given to the Medina. The Medina pushed the Pathfinder causing her to list and the Pathfinder went to the bottom

One of the firemen jumped on the Medina, but all the other Pathfinder men jumped into the water and were rescued, with the exception of Scully. Captain Diettbol of the Medina and Captain Brown of the Pathfinder were arrested

CUBANS ARRAIGNED

For alleged Violation of Neutrality Laws—Weapons Captured

WILMINGTON, Del, Aug 31 The 20 Cubans arrested at Penns Grove, N J, yesterday were arraigned before a tiny U S Commissioner McAllister this morning. The court room was crowded. Each pleaded not guilty. Ralph DeSoto of this city, agent of the Cubans here, acted as interpreter. The charge against the men was violation of the neutrality laws. Branlio Peno, one of the accused, was selected as the first man to be arraigned. U S Marshal Lannon detailed the arrest of the men. He said they were put under arrest on New Jersey soil and the warrants were then read to them

When they reached Delaware new charges were made but the witness did not know who had filed the complaints. Thos H Nicholson, master of the Charles Warner Company tug Taurus, testified that the party left on the boat at midnight Thursday. The munitions of war captured were put on the boat by the prisoners. Ralph DeSoto gave all the orders and the boat was to go out into the river and cruise near the Creek. The tug was to meet a steamboat going out which would give three whistles. The Taurus was then to make fast to her. Witness did not know further what was to be done with the weapons or the men

The ship failed to arrive and DeSoto left the tug at Gordon Heights at 7 30 a m Friday and the rest went to Penns Grove in the afternoon, 20 minutes before the office's arrived. Witness said the ammunition and baggage captured was to have been sent to Philadelphia. During this testimony Ralph DeSoto interrupted and admitted that he had directed the operations of the party. Counsel for the defense said no evidence could be received against DeSoto, who was not accused

The district attorney said he probably might be. There was no evidence to show that Peno gave any orders. There was considerable legal sparring and the proceedings were tedious. L S Gaylor, a Philadelphia Pinkerton detective, was introduced. He was special agent for the Spanish legation in this case. Testimony was to the effect that he had seen Col Emilio Nunez and another man in Philadelphia together, the latter with a bundle which was brought to this city and later captured at Penn's Grove

The bundle was identified and found to contain four letters addressed to Maximo Gomez. The commissioner refused to accept the letters as evidence and would not open them. The package also contained a pistol and a case of bottles of ink and a book. The detective also testified to certain boxes being shipped here Wednesday from Philadelphia by steamboat. He saw the same or similar boxes put on the tug Taurus Thursday night and saw them again Friday at Penns Grove. He thought them the same

When he first saw them in Philadelphia they were marked "Hardware and Glass" but when captured they bore no marks. No other evidence was brought out. Gaylor had been watching three or four of the men personally for some time, especially Nunez, who is not under arrest. Two boxes of the twenty-seven captured were opened to-day. One contained cartridges and other carbines. The government finished the case at 2 p m

When the hearing was resumed at 3 o'clock argument was made by the attorneys for both sides. At its conclusion the accused were held in $300 bail each

Planned in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 31 The Cuban filibuster's expedition which came to grief at Penn's Grove, N J, last night, was planned in Philadelphia and the first hint the government officials had of the movement came from Dr J Congosto, Spanish consul at this port. Regarding the capture, Dr Congosto said to-day "Branlio Pena, mentioned in the Wilmington despatches as leader of the expedition and Col Emmilio Munez, who bailed out some of the men arrested, are leading spirits among the Cubans of Philadelphia. They have been very active in sending arms and ammunition to the Cuban insurgents and I must say they have been quite successful

"Pena is a member of the firm of Fran & Pena, cigar manufacturers in Philadelphia. He was a captain in the last Cuban revolution ten years ago and was wounded in battle. He is very energetic. I do not know Col Nunez personally, but I know he was a colonel in the Cuban revolution 10 years ago"

NEW YORK, Aug 31 The Evening Sun says it became known today by way of undoubted authority that within the past few days a secret organization has been formed in the police department of this city for the purpose of raising mammoth fund of $80 000. The new secret organization is confined exclusively to sergeants, roundsmen and patrolmen

The object of the big corruption fund as understood by those pledged to membership is to pay some dishonest legislators who last year worked for the defeat of the police re-organization bill and also some who voted against the power of removal bill and to bribe members of the next legislature to defeat any police reorganization bill that may be drafted

THE GREAT CUP RACE.

Arrangements for the International Contest.

First Race Between Valkyrie and Defender Next Saturday.

Second to be on Following Tuesday and the Third on Thursday.

NEW YORK, Aug 31 Lord Dunraven informed a reporter of the United Press to-day that the conditions which will govern the international yacht races were satisfactorily arranged at the meeting between himself and the members of the America's cup committee last evening. The programme, which the committee will publish next week, is in substance as follows

The races for the America's cup will be the best three in five. The course will be practically the same as the recent trial races were sailed over, except the windward and leeward race will be 30 miles with a turn and the triangular races ten miles to a leg instead of eight miles. There will be a gun start with an interval of two minutes before the handicap gun. The start will be from either Scotland or Sandy Hook lightship according to the direction of the wind. The first race will be Saturday, September 7th, the second Tuesday, September 10th, the third Thursday, September 12th

Additional races will if necessary be sailed with one week day intervening. Special efforts will be made by the committee to keep the course clear of excursion boats as a very large attendant fleet is expected. The competing yachts, the Defender and Valkyrie III, will be measured in the Erie basin Sept 6th, the day before the race, and the time allowance will be determined according to the rules of the New York Yacht Club

SAME OLD STORY

Didn't-Know-It-Was-Loaded With Usual Result.

BOSTON, Sept 1 James W Cannon, aged 24, a compositor, and his room mate, Charles J Pierce, alias Harslow, were fooling at their lodgings at 241 Shawmut avenue when Pierce drew a revolver, which he claims he did not know was loaded, and during the struggle the weapon was discharged

Cannon was shot in the left temple. Almost distracted Pierce rushed for a physician. Cannon died soon. Pierce was arrested. He is a steady fellow and the police believe the shooting was accidental

His Occupation.

The street car was crowded and as it turned a corner sharply a man who was standing in the aisle made a grab at a strap, but missed it and involuntarily embraced a sharp faced young woman standing near him.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," he said

"Sir," she exclaimed, "you are a boor."

"No madam," rejoined the penitent offender, "I am not. I am a newspaper man."

"You are, hey?" was the contemptuous rejoinder. "What do you do about a newspaper office, I'd like to know?"

"I am the pressman."

The sharp faced young woman turned a little redder, but she didn't say anything more.—Chicago Tribune.

The style of beauty possessed by Dante's Beatrice is uncertain. She is described by one authority as a brunette, by another as a golden haired blond. MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1895.

STATE OF MAINE.

PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR.

By appropriate legislation, the first Monday in September of each year has been specially set apart as

LABOR'S LEGAL PUBLIC HOLIDAY.

It is a deserving recognition of the great cause of labor and merits a general observance throughout the State.

Given at the Council Chamber, at Augusta, this twenty-second day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and twentieth.

HENRY B. CLEAVES.

By the Governor,

NICHOLAS ESSENDEN,
Secretary of State.

Wilson Reverses Himself.

Secure in his position as Postmaster-General Mr. Wilson gives the bill of "party perfidy and party dishonor" his unqualified approval, and remarks that "a few months' experience has already justified the arguments and predictions of the tariff reformers." Mr. Wilson is the man who started to "reform" the tariff in the last Congress. He probably knew less on the subject than most any member of Congress, which is saying a great deal when we recall that motley gathering of cross-roads statesmen, but in the eyes of the Administration his ignorance was his principal qualification, as it would tend to make him more amenable to the White House suggestions. He formulated a bill that was passed through the House with the aid of official patronage, but when it was sent to the Senate that body added amendment to amendment until the original measure had entirely disappeared by the time it was returned to the House.

Then followed a most terrible struggle. Conferees were appointed and held daily sessions, but the invariable answer on the part of the Senators was that its bill must be accepted just as it passed that body. Mr. Wilson was then ready to die in the last ditch before consenting to this surrender of party principles. He was fortified in his position by a letter from the President which he read from the floor of the House denouncing the Senate committee in unmeasured terms. After all this shrieking eagle display, however, the House surrendered and passed the existing law just as it came from the Senate. Mr. Wilson made no pretense of concealing his contempt for the measure, but accepted it as the best bill possible under the circumstances and contended that it was the entering wedge which would result in more radical changes in the future. The President was so little pleased with the measure that he refused to sign it, but permitted it to become a law by constitutional limitation, holding that the work of tariff reform would never die even though it was stabbed in the home of its friends.

Now the same Mr. Wilson is standing as sponsor for the very measure in the adoption of which he only encountered humiliation and defeat, and the failure of which he contended was essential to the perpetuity of Democratic principles. His comments upon the working of the law are inconsequential as the distressing effects of this Democratic tariff raid are too well understood by a suffering people to admit of any misconception as a result of Democratic chatter about restored prosperity. Whatever revival of business has taken place in the past few months is not due to anything the Democratic party has done, but rather to the fact made certain by the people in the election of last fall that it could do nothing further in the way of mischief.

The sole point in Mr. Wilson's letter to the New York World is the completeness with which he has succeeded in reversing himself. It seems to be the fashion with the Democrats to-day both on the currency as well as the tariff question. The fact is there is not a single issue which the party has championed in the past that it is not now afraid to meet. The mere recital of its double dealing with the people is sufficient to forever condemn it. BLL

The Administration "Issue."

Josiah Quincy, of Boston, has been in Washington and while there took occasion to discuss the political situation with a newspaper correspondent. So far as Massachusetts is concerned he freely admitted that the Democrats have no hope of defeating the Republican candidate for Governor this fall. When it came to the national field of politics he expressed the opinion that neither the tariff nor the currency question would figure prominently as an issue. In his judgment the issue will be "the record of the Administration throughout." As the record of the Democratic administration includes the worst era of business depression in the history of the country as a direct consequence of its raid on the tariff, it is not clear just how the tariff can be eliminated from a discussion of the "record" even to please our Democratic friends with whom it is a tender subject.

When we come to other phases of the "record" there is Josiah's looting of the consulates which will furnish an interesting chapter on the civil service reform methods of the Administration. Then there is the foreign policy, or, as it has been ably designated by the leading Democratic organ in the country, "the policy of infamy" of the Administration. Cleveland's efforts to re-establish a rotten monarchy in Hawaii, his treacherous treatment of the Provisional Government to whom he accredited a representative while at the same time plotting for the downfall of that government, his usurpation of Congressional functions in sending "My Commissioner" to overrule the acts of a constitutionally appointed Minister, as well as his bull dozing subservience to John Bull in the Corinto affair are all matters of intense public interest, in the discussion of which the Republicans will gladly meet our Democratic friends.

The "record" of the Administration is one of disaster at home and humiliation abroad and the fuller the discussion the worse it will be for the party responsible for it.

Vote the Republican Ticket.

The New York Evening Post says of the ripping up of the Democratic party in Kentucky, made manifest in the course of the joint debates between the candidates for Governor:

"Leading party journals refuse any longer to support men who will not themselves support the platform of the party. The most prominent of all, the Louisville Courier-Journal, which made a splendid fight again: free coinage during the canvass before the convention, will not stultify itself by advising its readers to vote for a nominee who still declares himself for free coinage. More than one other Democratic organ has taken down Hardin's name. Leading Democrats are declaring openly against him, and a host of the rank and file are evidently getting ready to vote for Bradley, the Republican candidate, who stands for the maintenance of the gold standard."

This paragraph is so saturated with intentional misrepresentation that the Brooklyn Standard-Union exposes the fraud as follows: The final position taken by the Courier-Journal in its "splendid fight" was that the great old party had nothing to do but to reaffirm the Chicago platform. Now the Courier-Journal understands perfectly that this was a straddle, and that the evasion of the rugged issue was necessary in order to keep the Democratic party from a fragrant division and open factional war. The Courier-Journal knew that there had been a fight for years in Georgia, led on one side by the Howells in the Constitution, and on the other by the Smiths in the Journal; that this fight was bitter, ceaseless, furious and uncompromising, and that both sides demanded a strict construction of the Chicago platform, and each construed it with ferocious and vindictive assurance of being right. This fight over the platform gave testimony that it was precisely suited to the Democrats of Kentucky, who could not draw up a business schedule without falling afoul of each other fist and skull.

When the Georgia fight over the Chicago platform had been a distinction in newspaper life for months, and there was no symptom of agreement, where was the splendor of urging that the disputed document should be accepted as the party law in Kentucky? Why should any honest journal accept so transparent a subterfuge as a chunk of holy truth? Why should anybody praise and pretend to believe in this protuberance of falsification? The truth behind it all is that the President and Secretary of the Treasury are wholly incompetent as financial reformers, and have lent themselves to certain cranky schemes worse than the silver craze; and they have made an effort to display their power in Kentucky but it has been quite limited. It is an awful thing for a Kentucky Democrat to go back on a Democratic Administration. It is a dreadful trial for a Kentuckian to displease Mr. Carlisle, the most prominent man in the State.

Therefore, the free silver coinage Democrats in the majority in the party permitted themselves to moderate their demands to the extent that they did not insist upon immediate free coinage of silver 16 to 1. They accepted the Chicago platform fraud in the spirit in which it was tendered, that of complacency and evasion. But they never agreed to a single item of sound money doctrine, and they have the same right to one end of the Chicago fraud that the alleged sound money administration has to the other end of the same fraud. We are delighted to hear that there are so many thousands of Democrats resolved to vote the Republican ticket in Kentucky. It is the best thing they can do in Kentucky, and in New York also.

The one way to truly suppress the silver craze is to vote the Republican ticket. There is no Democratic State West or South in which the majority of the Democrats are not opposed to the gold standard. Mr. Cleveland and Carlisle have their State bank of issue ideas, and their coinage of the silver seigniorage, and their hostility to national banks, and when they have nothing else to offer they break out like the President's yachting friend, Mr. Benedict, about the abolition of greenbacks, or some other preposterous impracticability, just to divert attention from things that are serious. The way of safety in all public crises is for a great majority of the people to vote the Republican ticket, and the time has come for Democrats to do it cheerfully, for their party is played out.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Newfoundland Sharply Criticised in House of Commons.

Largest Ocean Liner Ever Built Ordered by German-American Co.

London, Aug. 31.—In the House of Commons last night the bill for the removal of all doubts as to the validity of the act establishing the Dominion of Canada passed the second reading. After a night mainly devoted to the discussion of the supply bill by the House rose at 5 o'clock this morning.

During the debate on the supply bill in the House of Commons yesterday Sir Charles Lilley criticised the giving of assistance to Newfoundland. He said that he believed a stronger case for state relief works might often be made in Great Britain. Bad government was largely answerable for the colonies troubles.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, colonial secretary, remarked the absence from the House of the ex-ministers who were answerable for the policy criticised and said he did not regard the arguments that had led to the adoption of it sufficient to justify a grant of 50,000 pounds. Of this sum, he said, 40,000 pounds had been expended already. If Great Britain gave money to a quasi-independent government the conditions and the distress prevailing ought to be very exceptional. He did not believe such was the case in Newfoundland.

Moreover the existing distress, which had been exaggerated, arose from bad government. The commissioner had arranged that a part of the money expended should be repaid, but as usual in such cases, there certainly had been some imposition, and it would be found that a certain amount had been dissipated in the colony. He assured the House that it was unlikely that such a policy would be repeated under the present government. (Cries of Hear, Hear).

Mr. Sidney Gedge, Conservative member for Walsall, moved to reduce the vote 1,000 pounds as a warning to colonial secretaries not to spend money in such an outrageous manner.

Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. A. J. Balfour deprecated pressing the amendment which, after some further discussion was negatived.

Steamer Ashore at Cuba.

Havana, Aug. 31.—The German steamer Ascania from Hamburg for New Orleans, has been ashore since August 29th, at Punta Hicha, off Cape San Antonio. She lies in a dangerous position.

German Newspaper Seized.

Paris, Aug. 31.—The police made a tour of the city last night for the purpose of inspecting the newspaper stands every one of which was visited. Two of the copies of the German pictorial publication, the Lustige Blatter, that could be found were seized and conveyed to the police headquarters. The seizures were made on the ground that the periodical contained cartoons and letter press, matters grossly insulting to France.

Reports from Congo Country.

Brussels, Aug. 31.—The Independance Belge has despatches saying that there has been several engagements in the Congo country between the troops and Mahdist forces. A desperate battle was fought in the Addu districts in which Lieut. Cassart and 10 men were killed.

The London Field on Yacht Races.

London, Aug. 31.—The Field, dilates on the cabled reports in the yacht trials in connection with the coming race for the America's cup and says: "The general opinion here is that the Valkyrie in a dead to windward and down wind trial will dispose of the Defender rather easily, if the breeze is such that the Valkyrie can carry all her canvas without heeling to more than her deck edge. It may thing like a breeze and breeze, even a breeze of full 20 knots or more strength the Defender may prove the better, especially if there is much reaching. This judgment is based entirely on the American estimate of the manner in which the Defender carries her canvas in a breeze. The trial races on Thursday proves, beyond doubt, that the Defender is faster in light breezes than the Valkyrie."

Referring to the cabled suggestion that the Defender has been held back during the trials, the Field expresses doubt as to whether there is a word of truth in the report.

The Field can not understand why Mr. Hyslop refused the request to measure the Valkyrie and says that some of the remarks of the American press on the matter are "simply idiotic."

Largest Liner in the World.

London, Aug. 31.—The Daily News prints a Berlin despatch saying that the Hamburg American Packet Co. has ordered from the Harlands of Belfast, a twin screw steamer of 20,000 tons which will be the largest in the world. The new vessel is intended primarily for freight, but it will have elegant cabin for 200 first class passengers and provisions will be made for 1500 steerage passengers. The order was given abroad because the tender of the Harlands was much lower than those of the largest German yards. The Harlands also agreed to have the new steamer ready in ten months while the German builders wanted 18 months for its construction.

Poverty in Southern Italy.

London, Aug. 31.—A Rome despatch to the Central News says that the reports of the prefect in Southern Italy and Sardinia show an increase of brigandage which is ascribable to the poverty of the people. The legend harvest is bad and the wine crop promises to be worse and the people are threatened with famine during the coming winter. The newspapers assert that the government will reduce taxes in the distressed districts and that it contemplates further remedies.

Made a Mistake and Got Whipped Himself.

London, Aug. 31.—The Chronicle says news has reached London that Mr. Sparks, a wealthy property owner in Adelaide, South Australia, attempted yesterday to horsewhip the Hon. C. C. Kingston, premier and attorney general of the colony, in Victoria Square, Adelaide. The assault is said to have been made in revenge for an attack made upon Mr. Sparks by the premier in a public speech. Mr. Sparks instead of thrashing Mr. Kingston, was thrashed by him, the premier wresting the whip from his assailant and using it vigorously upon him.

Steamer Met Terrible Storm.

Queenstown, Aug. 31.—Belgian steamer Rhyndland from Philadelphia, Aug. 21, for Liverpool arrived here today. Her passengers report that the ship experienced a terrible storm beginning last Sunday night and continuing till Wednesday morning. Although the hatches were battened down a large quantity of the water which dashed over the decks ran into the steerage drenching everybody in that part of the vessel. The saloon passengers were greatly alarmed but no gold being kept below during the storm they were not inconvenienced.

Queen of the Belgians Injured.

Brussels, Aug. 31.—The Queen of the Belgians, who is staying at Spa, near Liege, was thrown from her horse while riding yesterday. The accident occurred while the horse was leaping a ditch. Her dress was soiled by the mud about the head and blood flowed from her wounds. Nevertheless she mounted her horse and rode back to Spa. She was immediately put to bed, where she remained but her condition is not serious enough to cause anxiety.

Sensational Rumors.

London, Aug. 31.—Since a hurriedly convened cabinet council which was held in room of the Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, on Wednesday night, sensational rumors have sent a British fleet to Besika bay, created demonstrations in the Bosphorus and attributed to Russia and France a variety of treacherous plottings at Constantinople.

Semi-official information has partly confirmed the Marquis of Salisbury's brief statement yesterday in the House of Lords, that the ambassadors of France and China had engaged chiefly the attention of the cabinet. The question of the Mekong river, to which the prime minister referred, has no special urgency, but the active attempt of Russia, supported by France, at Pekin, to oust Sir Robert Hart from the control of the Chinese customs and replace him with Russian and French officials, demanded the immediate intervention of the British foreign office.

The government has been warned by private unofficial advices from Pekin and Shanghai that Sir Robert's dismissal was imminent. Despatches from the British minister at Pekin confirmed the fact that intimidation measures giving Russia control of the customs were threatened. It is understood that the cabinet has decided to interpose in the matter more.

Don't Like British Minister.

London, Aug. 31.—A dispatch to the Globe from Shanghai says it is reported that the Tsung Li Yamen has instructed the Chinese Minister at London to procure the recall of Sir N. R. O'Connor, British Minister to China. This action is taken by the Chinese government, it is alleged, in consequence of the menacing attitude assumed by O'Connor in regard to the inquiry into the Kuchen outrages. Violent scenes are said to have taken place during Minister O'Connor's visit to the Tsung Li Yamen in connection with the inquiry.

Agitators Not Wanted.

Madrid, Aug. 31.—The police authorities at San Sebastian are taking every precaution to prevent foreign republican agitators from entering the Basque Provinces, many of them having done so under the pretence that the object of their coming was to attend bull fights. The troops at San Sebastian are confined to their barracks in readiness for an emergency.

THE YACHT RACE.

Details Agreed Upon at Meeting Saturday.

New York, Aug. 31.—A meeting between Lord Dunraven and the American cup committee at the New York Yacht Club house lasted until a late hour last night and when it was over all arrangements for the race had been completed. The sailing regulations used in 1893 were adopted with a few minor additions and the changes agreed upon with the challenge was made. Everything was perfectly satisfactory to Lord Dunraven and he so expressed himself at the close of the conference.

The races will be the best three in five over courses 15 miles to windward and leeward and return and a triangular course ten miles to each leg. The start to be made from Scotland or Sandy Hook lightship according to the wind. The first race will be sailed on Saturday, Sept. 7, and the contest will occupy consecutive days until completed.

The Defender shipped her new mast and also a steel gaff by the Pilgrim last night while she lay at anchor off Bay Ridge. She had her mainsail and some queer looking spars this morning. The 1,250 started for the Horseshoe.

Mr. Iselin said he should like to see and try the new spars, this afternoon off Sandy Hook. The spars are very handsome but are considerably heavier than the wooden ones they replace. The America's Cup committee made a careful inspection of the Defender after her victory yesterday and found her in good condition. No sign appeared and the bolts were found to be all right. The members of the committee were convinced that the Defender could have been beaten had she not been in perfect trim.

A HORSELESS WAGON

Public Exhibition Made in Washington Square New York

The first horseless wagon ever brought to the country appeared on the streets of Washington Square, New York, where it had its first trial trip under the direction of M Emil Berliger of Paris the builder of the wagon This novel vehicle has been imported by Hilton Hughes & Co the big dry goods firm, and it is their intention to substitute the horseless wagon for their present system of delivery in case the new vehicle proves as satisfactory as the trial trip promises that it will be

These carriages have come to be quite popular in Paris, both in vehicles of pleasure and business At the present time over two thousand of them are running on the boulevards of that great city This particular carriage imported by Hilton Hughes & Co was entered by the builder in a race from Paris to Bordeaux on June 11 last against forty other competitors and won the first prize with ease On a smooth road the carriage can attain a speed of fifteen miles an hour This wagon also obtained the silver medal at the Universal Exposition of 1889

It is an automatic petroleum wagon, a petroleum engine providing the motive power The motor is a simple industrial motor, near which is a small tank filled with water The constant mixture of the air and petroleum within the cylinder generates the electrical force, which starts the piston and causes the revolution of the large drive wheel to which a belt is attached running over an axle situated about midway underneath the carriage From this axle made on a sprocket wheel a link chain similar to that used on a bicycle connects with the rear wheels of the carriage A crank in front of the driver's seat guides the vehicle and the brakes keep it under control The front wheels of the carriage are built on a peculiar plan which is original with Mr Loger The front axle is stationary and does not turn with the wheels which are attached to the axle by jointed links The device enables the driver to turn the wagon in almost its own length and to stop it suddenly The tires of the wheels are of solid rubber

The cost of running the wagon is less than a cent a mile, and the reservoir holds oil sufficient for a run of seventy five miles There is no danger of fire or explosion, and the vehicle is under the absolute and easy control of the conductor

The representative of Hilton Hughes & Co who witnessed the trial expressed himself as much pleased with the result Two more of the horseless wagons consigned to the same firm are still at the Custom House Upon the sides and rear of the wagon exhibited appeared in large gilt letters "Hilton, Hughes & Co, successors to A T Stewart & Co," and also a cut of the firm's well known trade mark a huge lion

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children and his children's children have inherited from him no weakness nor tendency to disease The healthy old man is the man who has strong sound his life kept its digestion good and his blood pure Once in a while you find such a man who has never taken any medicine That man has lived a perfectly natural life Not one in a thousand does do it. Sometimes very slight indiscretions or carelessness pave the way for serious sickness. The germ theory of disease is well authenticated, and germs are everywhere This need make no difference to the perfect y healthy man Germs go through the healthy body without effect. They are hurried along rapidly and thrown off before they have time to develop or increase. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, they will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead

GRAND ROUNDING OUT

Of Knights Templar Encampment at Boston Saturday.

Many Remained to Inspect Naval Squadron and Exchange Courtesies.

BOSTON, Aug 31 The scenes of today may be said to mark the grand rounding out of the encampment of the army of the Knights Templar in Boston, for although a large proportion had made their exit before the inevitable crush of departure, an important element in point of numbers remained to close the arrams with the work in the headquarters At the hotels, the railway stations and the streamers alike the evidences of exodus were to be seen.

At the railway stations enlarged forces of baggage handlers were found necessary and although they worked like trojans in dispatching trunks and valises of every grade and magnitude there seemed to be no appreciable reduction in the quantities that overflowed the baggage rooms and all the supplementary spaces

Among the most active classes in the city were the railway ticket venders of all grades whose shops sprang up in all the business parts of the city and the general remark was that the business of ticket brokerage had never been carried out on such an extensive and varied scale in Boston before

Notwithstanding the rapid departure the uniform and ensignia of the knights were still largely inevidence upon the streets and in the prominent hotels of the city, some remaining to carry out programmes of courtesies with suburban commanderies, and, perhaps, the largest quota being desirous of inspecting the ships of the squadron in the harbor and enjoying the incidental ceremonies

The boats are constructed of steel plates one-quarter inch thick above the water line and increasing to one-half inch on the bilge and are painted black It is expected that they can travel with less insurance, take more freight, last longer and cost less to maintain than the old wooden boats which are pulled along the canals by mules. The propeller is fitted with compound condensing engines.

Some of the sons of Maine who have gone out from among us, keep scrapbooks that have a particular reference to the old home state The contents of some of these would be a mine of wealth to the term writer One such, one which an exchange has had a glimpse is kept by a Boston physician with a large practice The wonder is that he ever finds opportunity to call so much material for his book One thing—his especial pride—is a little poem cut from an Oxford county local paper of years ago That poem said the doctor, was written by one of the most learned judges of the Maine Supreme Court when he was at school I doubt if he knows there is a copy of it in existence And that was only one of the things in the curious book that would awaken a lively interest if Maine people could get hold of it

Obituary

A correspondent writes Deacon Thomas B George died at his home East Orrington August 27 after a long and severe illness The deceased was born in Wrentham, Mass January 29 1819, and was thus in his 77th year When 10 years old he moved with his father, Deacon Timothy George to East Orrington where he lived until his death He was married twice and had four children by the first union, three of whom survive him, viz Miss Maria, Mr C W and Miss Mary, the fourth, a son died in 1862

In early manhood he became a Christian and united with the Congregational church, devoting himself to its temporal and spiritual interests and was always present at its services both Sabbath and mid week unless prevented by sickness

For a period of forty one years he faithfully and efficiently filled the office of deacon, for sixteen years that of church clerk and for many years he was superintendent of the Sunday school

He was troubled with a painful heart difficulty for the last three years of his life

During the winter he failed in health very rapidly On his last birthday he had a sudden and severe attack of illness from which he never recovered Although unable to go to church he attended a number of the mid week services when held in private houses during cold weather, invariably taking part in a very helpful and impressive manner In great weakness he was present at the County Conference of Congregational churches which met at East Orrington, June 11th and 12th and assisted at the communion service The following Sunday he attended church for the last time During his illness the church was frequently in his thoughts and prayers, and again and again he expressed the wish that he might be able to do something more for it He had the privilege of having all his children with him, who ministered to him devotedly and tirelessly

In his home his loss is irreparable, and the church he loved so dearly and served so faithfully, sincerely mourns its great loss

Home, church and community will sorely miss him for he was one of "God's noblemen" Intelligent, patriotic, public spirited, broad in his sympathies fervent in his charity, a man whose influence was always positive and direct for everything that was upright and honorable.

The end came peacefully Cheered and sustained by an unfaltering faith in Christ, he passed to that sinless, sorrowless and deathless world on high.

His funeral, which was very largely attended, took place Friday afternoon The service was conducted by Rev James Ramage his pastor, and Rev B B Merrill, of Brewer. The sorrowing relatives have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

CONCERNING MILLET

Popular Varieties Described The Value of Millet For Fodder Pasture and Seed

The number of species known as millet is very large and includes nearly all the grasses which germinate in hot weather and many of which are cultivated for hay and fodder in various parts of the world Until recent times only a few species were considered worthy of cultivation in this country but during the past season a number of new varieties have been introduced from Europe and Asia and tested by the Department of Agriculture with very satisfactory results

GERMAN COMMON

For many years the common millet of the east which consists of short and thick upright stems with a common mill top usually green in the west and northwest is found drought well and produces only a fair crop of seed German millet is still grown to a wide area but is best suited and most exclusively grown in the south

The amount of fodder which millet will range with the variety soil climate and character of the soil chiefly affects the purpose for which the millet is sown In seeding for hay from one to one and a half bushels of seed will be required If too much seed is sown the product will be small and fine stemmed And just so fertile soil will produce a coarse growth and a large amount of fodder is needed Less seed will be sown for the purpose of obtaining a heavy growth of seed Broadcasting is generally practiced but drilling in rows at such distances apart as will allow the cultivator to be used is preferable as it admits of the soil being kept mellow and free from weeds and the crop is more easily harvested Millet does not require a rich soil but will make a better growth on land that is in good condition than on poor land Millet is a rapid grower and will mature in from seven to nine weeks from the time the seed is sown

Millet may be cut for hay when in bloom or when the seed is in the dough stage Cutting when in bloom will produce the largest amount of hay but cutting when the seed is in the dough stage will produce the best hay Millet hay cured in the cock is of excellent quality and is relished by all kinds of stock Millet is a valuable crop for pasture for cattle horses and sheep It may be pastured off from time to time as required during the season Millet is also valuable as a soiling crop to be cut and fed green to stock in the barn or yard

Millet is not considered of much value as a grain crop but for poultry it is said to be equal to wheat or oats Millet is also valuable as a crop to plow under for green manure

Millet is not subject to the attacks of insects or fungous diseases to any great extent and is less troublesome in this respect than any other crop now grown

Hungarian millet is a grass of the Hungarian grass kind but is somewhat smaller in all of its parts It is said to have originated in Iowa and is now grown to a considerable extent in that state and in Nebraska and Kansas It has been found to withstand drought better than other varieties of millet and is usually preferred on that account

Hungarian millet is a good forage plant and is relished by all kinds of stock It is said to be more nutritious than common millet and to be equally productive on the poorer soils and to withstand drought better than common millet Hungarian millet was the first of the millets to be introduced into the United States and is usually grown to a considerable extent in the northern states

GOLDEN MILLET

This is a variety of Japanese origin and is said to be a heavy yielder of seed and hay of fine quality

GOLDEN BRISTLY MILLET

This is a variety of Japanese origin and is said to be a heavy yielder of seed and hay of fine quality

SIBERIAN MILLET

This is a variety of Japanese origin and is said to be a heavy yielder of seed and hay of fine quality

TURTLE NECK MILLET

This is a variety of Japanese origin and is said to be a heavy yielder of seed and hay of fine quality

STOLEN GOODS FOUND.

A Thief Has Been Visiting Houses, Clothes Lines and Front Door Steps Lately.

For two or three weeks past the police department has received reports from Bangor citizens of thieving from their houses, clothes lines and front door steps and efforts have been made to locate the robber, who has not yet been captured as no clue was left

Saturday forenoon Detective G W Harriman gave Officer Bowen some information concerning goods and clothing at Davis' auction rooms on Central street which he had good reason to believe were a portion of the stolen articles and the two officers went at once to the auction room and interviewed the proprietor

Mr Davis said he had purchased on Thursday the articles and clothing which he produced when the officers asked for them, with the intention of selling them at auction The officers took the articles, which made quite a big bundle, to the police station and later in the day people who had lost goods and clothing called at the station and identified them

At the residence of Mr F H Leadbetter on Cumberland street the thief paid a visit to the clothes line and took a quantity of underclothing and some table linen Mr G T Rowe lives in the same house and his clothes line was also tapped to the extent of two bed spreads They identified the articles found at the auction room as belonging to them

From the clothes line of H J Preble, Esq shirts and towels were taken by the thief Mr Preble Saturday identified one of the shirts and the members of his family will to-day inspect some of the articles which were not identified Saturday

At the residence of Mr Jones on Forest avenue the thief secured a bed blanket a pair of ladies gloves and an undervest and took from the house a clock

The taking of the clock was a very bold piece of work Between 7 and 8 o clock in the evening the members of the family were in the sitting room, just off from the dining room, when the thief, who had doubtless been watching his opportunity outside stole noiselessly into the dining room coolly took the clock and tiptoed out with nobody the wiser It was not until some time later that the clock was missed

Mrs F F Peck lost two rugs two weeks ago Wednesday by the thief She had been out on the front door steps upon which she had placed the rugs and during the evening stepped into the house, not being absent more than five minutes It was time enough, however, for the convenient thief to lay hands upon the rugs and run off with them Mrs Peck missed the rugs when she returned She identified the articles at the station Saturday as her own

At the station is a fur rug which looks like moose skin, some women's and children s clothing, table linen and towels which have not as yet been identified, but probably will be soon

The thief is a bold one as can readily be seen from the thieving, especially at the residences of Mr Jones and Mrs Peck

BASE BALL.

Two Games for One Admission this Afternoon—Turn out a Large Crowd and Swell the Treasury

The Augustas and Bangors will play two games for one admission this afternoon, the first game being called at 2 o'clock, and there should be a large crowd present The Augustas are playing great ball and hot times are expected They defeated Lewiston and Portland last week 4 to 3, in each case

The league season ends this week and there should be a large attendance at each game to help swell the treasury and show the interest nearly every person takes in our fine team, which is playing championship ball Hard luck has been experienced in the matter of weather recently and the management need money

In order to raise the needful the directors have decided to issue season coupon tickets for this week at $1 50, six games, and our citizens will be called upon and asked to purchase them There will be a coupon for each game It is hoped that these tickets will be liberally purchased for one gets the worth of his money and helps along the cause just the same Everybody wants base ball here and everybody wants a fine team That is what we have and like all good things it costs money to run it Let every public spirited man do his share for the good cause

A WOMAN S CURIOUS WILL

The Beneficiary Arrested on a Charge of Causing Her Death

A queer will has been filed with the Surrogate by De Forrest Brothers of No 62 William street New York The testator was Miss Ellen Boden and the heir under the will is Joseph A Delgado who lives at No 787 Lexington avenue Miss Boden was about thirty three years old and a dressmaker by occupation It is said that she formerly lived in Montclair, N J and was at odds with her relatives She encountered no end of trouble in earning her living and was often obliged to accept small gifts of money Among those who helped her at various times was Mr Delgado For three months or more Miss Boden was a patient at the Presbyterian Hospital, at No 41 East Seventieth street, and on Wednesday her troubled life came to an end After her death, her last will and testament was found It was written on a small piece of unruled paper and read as follows

If I should die I desire and order as my last wish that everything that belongs to me and is in my possession to be given to my distinguished and good friend, Mr Joseph A Dalgado No 787 Lexington avenue New York, and I further request that I also give my remains to him I do not recognize any relative, nor do I wish them to attend my funeral, or even see me, as they have disgraced me The last will of ELLEN BODEN

New York August 10 1895

The witnesses named were Edward A Orphen Frank S Stewart and H P Whitehead, all employes at the Presbyterian Hospital C Irving Fisher, superintendent of the hospital turned the will over to De Forest Brothers the hospital's attorneys who then filed it with the Surrogate The document, although modest and lacking legal verbiage, seems pretentious when it is known that Miss Boden s worldly possessions were few in number and almost valueless It is not probable that at the time of her death she was worth more than three or four dollars Mr Delgado told a reporter that he thought Miss Boden had written the will more for the purpose of publicly expressing her resentment at the treatment she had received from her relatives than of bequeathing her slender estate to him

Austin Van Gieson a Newark lawyer, called at the Coroner s office in company with Assistant District Attorney Battle, and asked that an autopsy be made on the body of Miss Bodin Mr Van Gieson said that Mr Delgado, who was one of his clients, was under arrest in Newark on a charge of having performed an operation on Miss Boden He thought that this was not the cause of the woman's death, and wanted to establish his client s innocence

Dr Weston performed an autopsy on the body, but found no evidence of malpractice Death, he says, was due to a complication of heart disease

Mr Delgado when seen by a reporter, said that there was no ground whatever for the charges made against him He declared that he was arrested at the instigation of Miss Boden's parents Miss Boden, he said, was entirely blameless for his troubles, which, like her own, were brought on by her relatives

"SWEET THE PLEASURE."

"Sweet is pleasure after pain" says Dryden, while Young tells us that "A man of pleasure, is a man of pains" Possibly so, no doubt, a man must sometimes take pains if he would secure pleasure. But when pains take the man there is no pleasure for him. If he wants pleasure let him take pains to get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a certain cure for all diseases of the blood and skin. It should be tried by all afflicted with tetter, salt-rheum scald head, St. Anthony's fire, erysipelas, ring-worms, pimples, blotches, spots, eruptions, boils, carbuncles, sore eyes, rough skin, scrofulous sores, swellings, blood-taints, affection of the skin, throat and bones, ulcers of the liver, stomach, kidneys and lungs. Purify the blood, and health will return.

TRAMP IN MAYOR S CHAIR

Found Sound Asleep in the Early Morn

The cool effrontery of the present day tramp has been exemplified again The so called Astor tramp who gained notoriety by slumbering in a bed in Mrs William Astor s house has been outdone by a fellow member of the profession named Andrew Bradley who says he lives at No 7[illegible] Wallabout street Brooklyn The Astor tramp was content with an orthodox, albeit luxurious bed but Bradley s ambition was satisfied with nothing less than the great civic chair from which Mayor Strong directs the affairs of New York

As the gray streaks of dawn stole into the Mayor s sanctum in the City Hall Thursday Bradley stole in with them through a window which opened from the outside When the watchman of the City Hall John Larkin entered the Mayor s room early that morning to raise the windows he found the tramp sleeping serenely in the Mayor s chair After he had awakened Bradley who accepted the situation with the greatest unconcern an examination of the Mayor s sanctum was made but it was found that nothing had been disturbed or appropriated

In response to Larkin s demand for an explanation of his presence in the room the tramp explained that in the early hours of the morning he had met a man who said he was a police sergeant near the City Hall The alleged sergeant he said told him that if he went to the Mayor s office His Honor would give him a new pair of trousers as he was distributing clothes to the needy every morning To make sure that he would be in time Bradley said he decided to steal into the office By climbing on a railing he was able to gain the ledge of the window, which he forced, and then crawled in He submitted meekly to Larkin s orders and followed submissively at the watchman's heels until Policeman Tillon was met outside the building

Bradley was first taken to the Oak street station and afterward before Magistrate Crane at the Tombs police court. The charge on which he was arraigned was that of disorderly conduct as it was clearly evident that he did not go into the Mayor s office with any felonious intent He hung his head low while being tried and had nothing to say beyond admitting that he had been drinking heavily for three days He added that he did not think he was doing anything wrong in crawling into the room and that he was only anxious to get his trousers

Magistrate Crane sent him to the Workhouse on Blackwell s Island, and if this is his first visit he may be released after five days confinement He is about thirty five years of age and was so poorly dressed that his clothes almost fell from him

The Devil Up to Date.

The popular contemporary conception of satan is of a highly successful man of the world. It is admitted that there are shady spots in his past history that he has done some things that he should regret that he is a hazardous associate and an unsafe person to have transactions with But conversely it is realized that he is rich, powerful and attractive and intimately concerned and interested in promoting the material prosperity of the human race He is known to be full of enterprise and public spirit, disposed to make things pleasant and powerful in carrying the enterprises with which he is concerned to a profitable issue It is true that he is understood to be unscrupulous, but it is felt that success excuses very much and that when an individual has attained a position which enables him to be useful to the public it is a mistake to be overnice about rejecting his good offices because in early life when his necessities were more pressing his methods or affiliations were not always such as a conscientious person could approve —Scribner's

Knew His Way

A young gendarme had to take a prisoner before the magistrate and after the trial convey him to the county prison He had never been in the building before and stood in the corridor with his charge, not knowing which way to turn At last the old offender had pity on him and said:

"Come along, I'll show you."—Rappel.

Landlady s Husband—No, it's Jones trying to beat his board bill, and my wife is onto him.—Detroit Free Press.

SIX MEN BLAMED

Verdict in the Collapsed Ireland Building Case

While the coroner's jury was at work fixing the responsibility for the collapse of the building at West Broadway and West Third street, New York, Thursday John B Ireland its owner, was not displaying any great interest in the inquiry

He was learning to ride a bicycle in the academy at West Sixtieth street and the Boulevard

The coroner s jury came in at 4 15 P M with a verdict placing the blame for the collapse on the following men

John H Parker the contractor to whose alleged gross carelessness the accident was chiefly due He was arrested immediately after the building collapsed on August 8

Thomas Walker, superintendent for Parker, who it is alleged knew that the foundation was twelve inches thick when the law provided that it should be eighteen

Thomas Murray foreman for Parker who, when he laid the concrete for the pier is alleged to have known he was disregarding the specifications and violating the law

Charles H Behrens, the architect He is charged with having known all about the character of the soil when the foundation was laid This man made the plans for $500 one fifth of the average price charged by regular architects

Edward J Youdale Behrens s assistant who is alleged to have known of the violation of the law in making the foundation He was paid $10 a week

Dennis F Buckley the ex building inspector who, in his official capacity was detailed on the building until June 11 and did not discover the fatal defect in the work

Joseph Grader the mason who was arrested on the charge that he had overloaded the floors [illegible] the column which [illegible] was [illegible] Jefferd I [illegible] killed

The cause of the accident was stated by the jury to have been insufficient foundation for column No 3, which was weakened by standing [illegible] the [illegible] cistern wall

The iron work while defective and not according to specifications was not contributory to the collapse

Nothing was said in the verdict about John B Ireland the owner of the building

Before the jury retired at 11 4[illegible] A M Coroner Fitzpatrick summed up the evidence at great length He said it was his opinion that the trouble was [illegible] footing course [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] the yielding soil [illegible] the [illegible] column No 3 and [illegible] cracked the [illegible] cement

With earth [illegible] a [illegible] to bear more th[illegible] tons [illegible] a half to the square foot when the building laws require [illegible] it was contrary to common sense to lay only twelve inches of concrete

He condemned the practice of putting the grout [illegible] around the [illegible] stone instead of [illegible] He [illegible] the floors had been overladen with the cement [illegible]

After [illegible] the jury which went out at 11 [illegible] A M [illegible] against the [illegible] the building [illegible] the verdict [illegible]
